

ABSTRACT

A system which fully automates the process of identifying and evaluating software products and software product vendors and for creating a request for proposal to send to the vendors. The system compares the business' requirements against a database of products and creates a list of the most appropriate products and ranks them according to how closely they match.

